Andy McMenemy

He has recently completed a world record of running 66 ultra-marathons in 66 days in each of the 66 cities of the UK to raise money for ABF The Soldier's Charity.

Prior to this he began his career in business and quickly rose up the corporate ladder to senior management positions in £1.3billion and £500million turnover companies.

Following this he radically changed what he did but kept his desire to succeed and set big challenges. As an athlete he has completed some of the toughest endurance races in the world including the notorious Marathon des Sables and the Namibian Desert 24hr extreme Ultra-Marathon.

In 2011 he was awarded the Richard Whiteley Award for Inspiration at the Yorkshire Awards.
